

ANOTHER NOTATION FOR ER MODEL
IE-INFORMATION ENGINEERING
(CROW FOOT NOTATION)

ER IN CHEN NOTATION

Pros

- Lots of information: Most books that cover relational database design tend to use this notation.
- Use basic figures: You can draw an ERD with practically any program that has rectangles, diamonds, ovals, and lines (ehem ... word).

Cons

- Notation takes up much space: If a diagram has entities with many attributes and relationships, it becomes chaotic and difficult to read
- No database modeler includes this notation: so, you cannot autogenerate a logical or physical diagram and much less SQL or reverse engineering.
- Not used in the industry: Because of the previous points, it is not use in any company.

IE (Crow Foot notation)

IE notation has various versions, without a single standard.

IE notation is quite popular and almost all database modeling tools include it.

PASSENGER

SEAT

IE (Crow Foot notation)

Entities

Attributes

Relationships

Relationship degrees

Relationship Cardinality

Relationship Cardinality

Cardinality

Cardinality

Example

IE (Crow Foot notation)

Entity types

Attributes

Relationship degrees

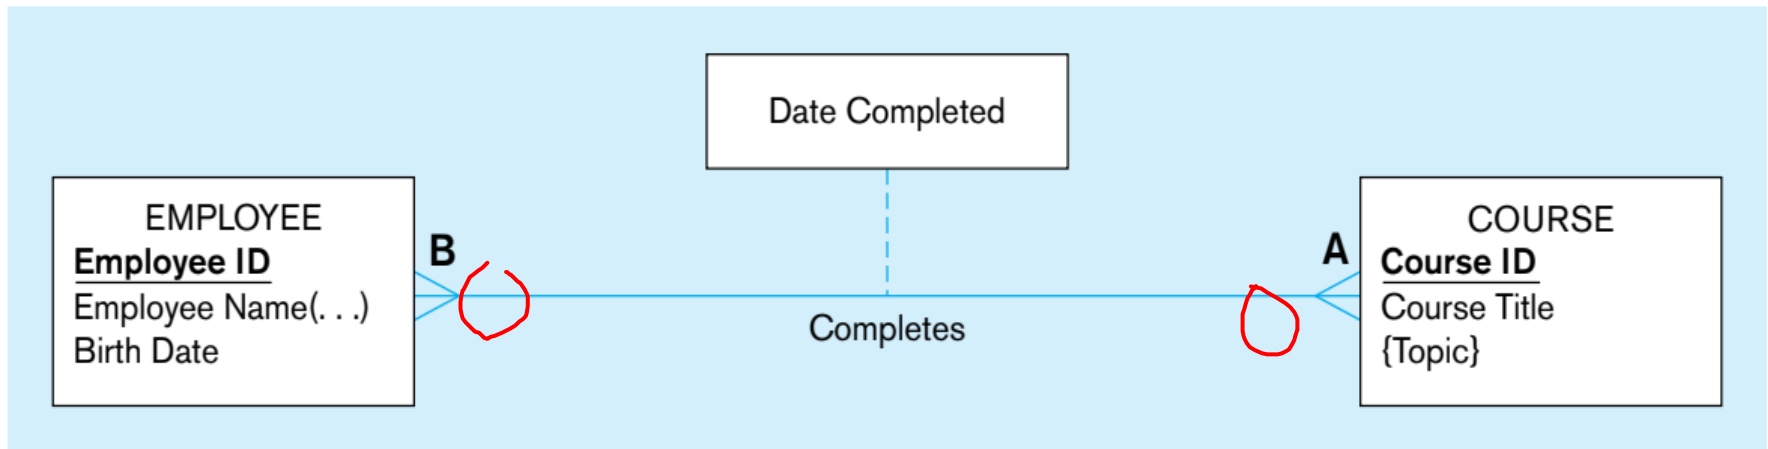

Relationship cardinality

Relationship Attribute

(a) Attribute on a relationship

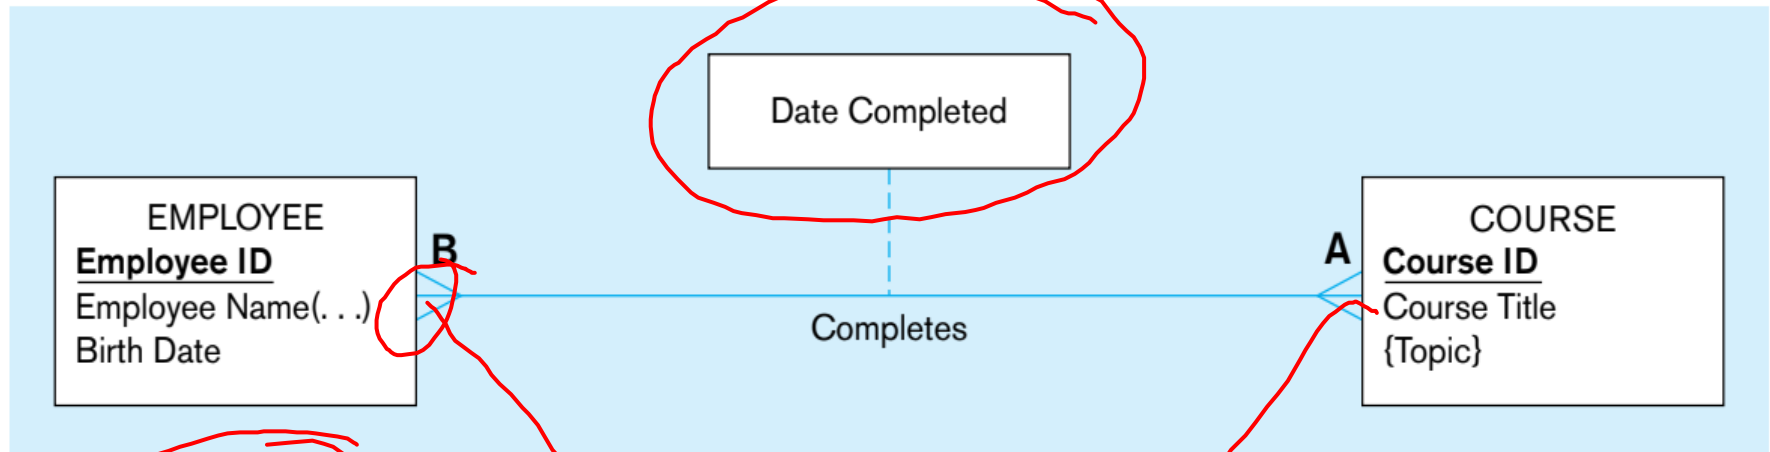

Participation

Relationship Attribute

(a) Attribute on a relationship

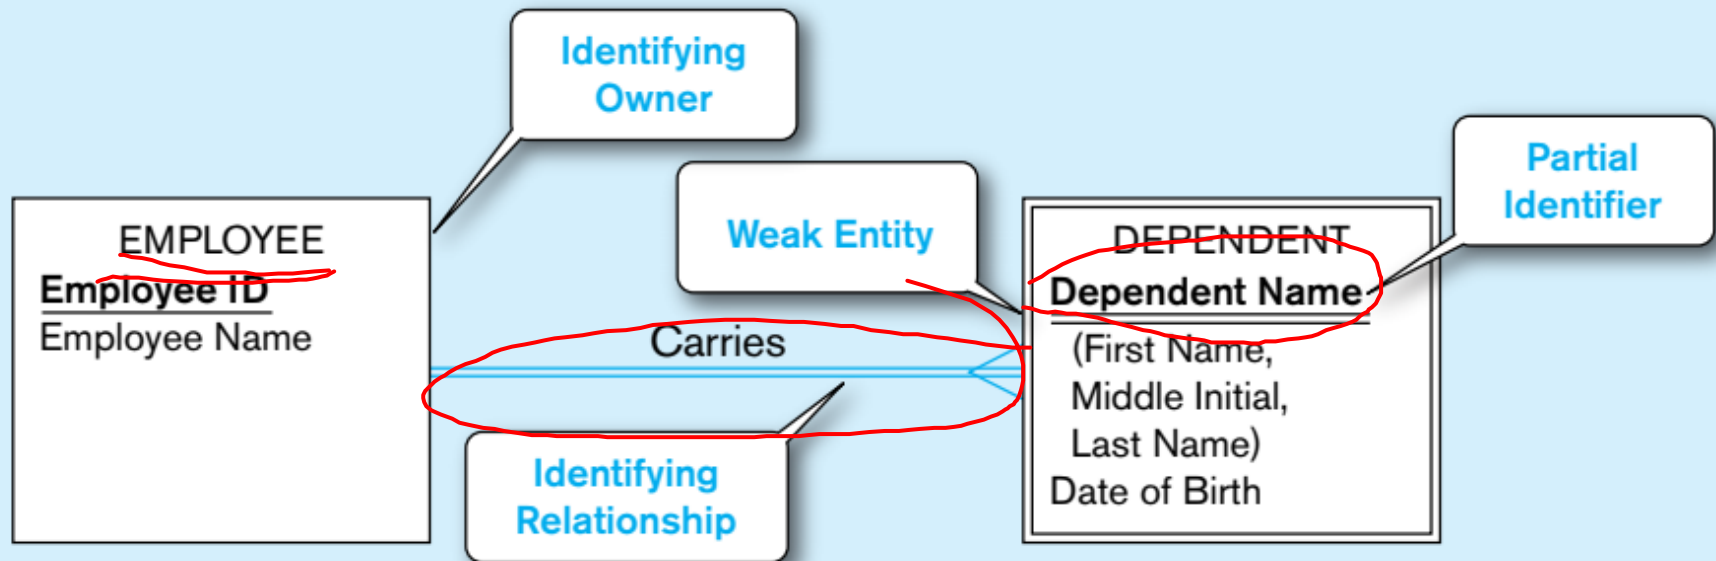

(b) An associative entity (CERTIFICATE)

Associative entity

Weak Entity

Example

Example

Key

Cardinalities

Example

(c) Ternary relationship

ERWIN ER MODEL

- Erwin® Data Modeler supports the IDEF1X and IE modeling standards

CUSTOMER

MOVIE COPY

ERWIN ER MODEL

- Erwin® Data Modeler supports the IDEF1X and IE modeling standards

Cardinality Description	IDEF1X Notation Nonidentifying	Identifying	IE Notation Nonidentifying	Identifying
One to zero, one, or more
One to one or more
One to zero or one
Zero or one to zero, one, or more (nonidentifying only)
Zero or one to zero or one (nonidentifying only)

crow's foot notation is also known as Information Engineering (IE)

ERWIN IE (Crow Foot notation)

PASSENGER

SEAT

Exclusive
Subtype

Inclusive Subtype

ER Tools

- Lucidchart
- Vertabelo
- Erwin
- Visio
- Conceptdraw
- And many more

Mapping ER-EER to Relational Model

